WOMEN'S CLUB MEETING OF SIXTH DISTRICT DRAWS TO ACLOSE TODAY

MRS. T. B. HENLY IS CHOSEN CHAIRMAN

Carthage Women, Who Has Headed Organization Since Mrs. Hamilton's Death, is Elected.

NEXT YEAR AT SHELBYVILLE

Ladies Musicales is Praised During Discussion of Topics in "Question Hour" This Morning.

The business of the eighth annual convention of the Sixth District Federation of Women's Clubs was transacted today, with the election of new officers, the reports of committees and officers, and this afternoon preparations were being made to close the last session about four o'clock.

Mrs. T. B. Henley, of Carthage, the present district chairman, who succeeded Mrs. J. M. Hamilton, of Brookville, who is dead, was re-elected this morning. Mrs. O. L. Stivers, of Liberty, the present secretary-treasurer, was elected vice-chairman, and Mrs. Will Petro, of Cambridge City, secretary-treasurer. The invitation of Shelbyville to entertain the 1916 meeting was accepted.

Over two hundred delegates had registered this afternoon. There is no doubt, in the minds of Rushville women, but that the bad weather kept many away. At any rate, it was a highly successful meeting and Rushville women were being complimented this afternoon for it.

Lunch was served to all of the visitors as well as the federated club women of the county at the Main Street Christian and the St. Paul M. E. churches. The afternoon program opened with "The Feast of the Little Lanterns," a Japanese operetta by the Ladies Musicales. Mrs. W. W. Thornton spoke on "Public Health Nursing." The address on "Co-operative Blind Work," by Mrs. E. K. Montgomery, of Shelbyville, which was on this morning's program, was moved forward to this afternoon.

Mrs. Montgomery is chairman of the committee appointed at the state meeting to investigation of the blind people of Indiana. She made an earnest plea this afternoon to the women to take the work and establish a state home for the adult blind. The women will work in conjunction with the commission appointed by the governor for a similar purpose.

The "Question Hour" conducted just before lunch hour by Mrs. Virginia C. Meredith of Cambridge City developed one of the most interesting discussions of the meeting. Incidentally, the Ladies Musicales of this city came in for warm praise because of its endeavors during the little less than thirty years of its life.

Reports from all of the county chairmen, excepting Henry, whose chairman was absent because of illness, were made this morning. The Hancock county federation boasts of seventeen clubs, nine in the country and eight in Greenfield. Each chairman outlined briefly the activities of the clubs during the year.

During the "Question Hour," in the course of the discussion of what the district meeting accomplishes, the question arose as to why the meeting should not be changed to fall because just now the clubs are closing for the season and when the dele-

MUST STAND ON A SUFFRAGE PLANK

Mrs. Felix McWhirter, Speaking Before Federated Clubs, Says Next President Must be Pledged.

TO THE WOMEN'S MOVEMENT

Former President of State Federation Traces Development of Equal Suffrage Question.

That the next president of the United States will have to stand on a equal suffrage plank and possibly on a prohibition plank, so fast have these two movements spread in the last few years, was the declaration of Mrs. Felix McWhirter, of Indianapolis, former president of the Indiana Federation of Women's Clubs, discussing "The Feminist Movement" at last night's session of the sixth district club women's meeting at the Graham Annex auditorium.

Mrs. McWhirter traced the development of the women's movement for more than a century, harking back to the time when co-education was unknown, even in the high schools of the United States; when women were not allowed to own property and it was considered a disgrace for a woman to work.

The visiting club women were welcomed to Rushville at last night's meeting, and the welcome was responded to. There was also a delightful musical program, all of which held the crowd of five hundred people until ten o'clock.

Mrs. Louis C. Lambert, speaking on behalf of the federated clubs of the county, welcomed the club women here, declaring that actions speak louder than words and that the visitors should observe the actions of their hostesses. She said the Rush county women had planned long for the meeting, but that the weather man and the carpenters yesterday afternoon seemed determined to spoil it all. However, she continued, there were good things in store.

Judge Will M. Sparks welcomed the guests on behalf of the city. "There may be better places on this earth than Rushville," he said, "but we have never seen them. There may be more lovable people on this earth, but we don't admit it. So we welcome you, co-extensive with our ability."

Judge Sparks said some nice things about the women. He said women were fine observers, and the only difference between them and the men was that they always went straight to the point. He pointed out that men are no longer saying that the home is the sphere for the woman.

"They have come on to the scene of action," he continued, "to do these things because men have failed to do them. They have elevated society and helped communities. If they do not think conditions are right for their children, they have a right to go out and better them."

"We welcome you here," said Judge Sparks in closing, "not only for what you are, but for what you stand for. Hail the day when every woman shall have a ring on her finger and a vote in her hand."

Mrs. Scott Michner, of Connersville, who responded to the welcome, said some persons were so thoughtless as to say in the presence of hosts that the old-time hospitality

THIS WAS BUSY DAY IN COURT

Two Cases Involving A. P. Walker And A. B. Irvin Sent to Shelby County and Third Dismissed.

TWO JUDGES ON THE BENCH

Two Divorces Were Granted and Other Cases Dismissed—Springer Special Judge.

With two judges—Judge Sparks and Special Judge Springer of Connersville holding court today a large amount of record was made. It was one of the busiest days in court here for several years.

Two of the cases involving A. P. Walker as the plaintiff and A. B. Irvin and the Farmers Trust Company as the defendants were sent to Shelby county on changes of venue. Still another case involving these two parties was dismissed. The one dismissed was the one in which Walker sued A. B. Irvin and the Rushville Glove company, for damages demanding $3,000. A motion of the defendant to publish depositions was sustained and then the plaintiff filed a motion for a change of venue from the county. Judge Springer overruled the motion for a change of venue and then the plaintiff asked to withdraw the pleadings. When this was overruled the plaintiff Walker moved to dismiss and the costs were placed against him.

In the case of Walker against the Farmers Trust company for an accounting, demanding $10,000, a change of venue was granted and the case sent to Shelby county. Ten days were given in which to perfect the change. Judge Springer held that the argument on a motion to strike out the amended third paragraph of the complaint should be heard before compelling the defendant to answer the rule placed against him. When it was seen that the court held firm in his decision, the written motion for a change of venue was filed and granted.

The other Walker case that was sent to Shelby county was the one against the Farmers Trust company and Claude Walker to cancel notes. The motion for a change of venue was filed by Walker's attorneys and was granted by Judge Springer. Ten days were given in which to perfect the change.

Only two Walker cases now remain on the docket here. They are the one involving the Ideal Husker Company and the sale of the Walker farm. The case heard yesterday by Judge Springer in which John Le Sneur sued Walker on an account is ready for argument, all of the evidence have been submitted. The final argument will take place next Wednesday.

Judge Springer granted a divorce to August Ebbing from Ollie J. Ebbing and found against Mrs. Ebbing on her cross-complaint. The costs were taxed against Ebbing and the decree is to be entered upon payment of the costs. The case was heard some time ago and taken under advisement by the court.

Judge Springer was appointed special judge in several other cases by Judge Sparks. He will act as judge in the case of A. L. Winship against Alexander Johnson, Rettie Johnson and Alberta Walker. He will also hear the case of Austen Frazee against the Pennsylvania railway. It is a damage suit in which $200 is demanded.

Judge Springer returned his finding in the suit of Morton Barber against John and Mary Jamieson, to foreclose a mechanics lien, demanding $100. The court found for Barber in the sum of $25.75 and $12.50

IS "CIRCUS DAY" FOR RUSHVILLE

Howe's Great London Shows Arrive On Time For Their Two Performances Here

PARADE WAS BIG FEATURE

Everything is New And The 300 Head of Horses Presented Especially Good Appearance

This is "circus day," and there is no one better aware of this than the youngsters of the city. Howe's Great London Shows arrived here early this morning over the Pennsylvania and was greeted by a large crowd interested in the work of unloading and setting up the "big top." The circus is located at the show grounds in West Third street.

The first circus of the season and perhaps the only one that will visit Rushville was witnessed by a large audience at the performance this afternoon and a still larger crowd is promised for tonight. The tent is absolutely rain proof.

Everything with the circus is brand new and clean. The street parade impressed many because of the clean appearance. The horses especially appeared in fine condition and the parade as a whole was a credit to a circus of much larger proportions. A large crowd witnessed the parade. The Howe show takes great pride in the horses, having 300 of the finest animals owned by any circus. They are well taken care of and well trained.

Previous to this afternoon's performance, many of the cages were thrown open to the people and there were free exhibitions also. The performance started at 2 o'clock and was attended by a large crowd. There were more than 150 acts in the circus proper, something new going on at all times in the rings, on the elevated stage or on the track.

Another thing in which the Howe shows management takes pride is that practically all of the people in the company have been with it for years. Morally and otherwise the company has the reputation of being one of the cleanest on the road.

The Howe shows came originally from London about ten years ago. The circus went direct to New York city and attempted to follow the same plan there that was used in England, that is establish a year's residence at one city. The plan works well in England, but it is no go in America, as the Howes soon learned. Later the company was re-organized and adopted the American circus plan of one day stands.

Among the features of the show are Prof. R. H. Dockrill and his troupe of wonderful trained horses, Miss Greer, the feature rider with this act, was sought by a number of big shows this season, but Howe's offered the best inducements.

Another big act is the Uyenna Royal Japanese troupe. The Geyene family, four girls and two men, do some sensational work on the double tight wire. The shows have a fine line of aerial acts and a bunch of the funniest clowns in the circus business.

The doors will open again at 7 o'clock tonight so that an opportunity may be had to see and animals before going into the circus.

ENCAMPMENT MEETING.

12, I. O. O. F. will confer Bernie Encampment No. the Golden Rule Degree this evening. All members of the staff are urged to be at the hall not later than 8 o'clock.

JUBILEE MEETING ENDS

Anniversary Session of Press Association Was Success

(By United Press.)

Chicago, May 21.—After one of the most successful meetings in the history of the organization, the Illinois Press Association, holding its golden jubilee anniversary here since Wednesday, was due to adjourn at the close of today's sessions. A theater party tonight concludes the social program of the members who came from all sections of the state to attend the meetings.

FORTY-EIGHT IN CLASS

Decatur, Ind., May 12.—With a class of forty-eight members of the Decatur high school will graduate the largest number in its history tonight. William Rainey Bennett of Chicago, the noted speaker, will address the graduates.

One From Italy to Austria May be on its Way, Decisive Action Being Expected.

SENATE WILL CONFIRM ACT

Wild Rumors That Italian and Austrian Forces Clash Keep People in Feverish Heat.

(By United Press.)

Rome, Italy, May 21.—Armed with power to declare war, the Italian cabinet was summoned at an unusually early hour today, while the nation awaited action in a volcano of excitement. Wild rumors that the Italian and Austrian forces had clashed on the border and that the Italian fleet had set sail gave additional force to keep the people at feverish heat of excitement.

The Royal decree suspending diplomatic relations between Italy and Germany and Austria is expected at any moment. Both the Austrian and German ambassadors will undoubtedly leave Rome tomorrow, it was reported at the foreign legation.

Until day break today a crowd of 200,000 serged through the streets of Rome bearing flags of Italy, France, England, Russia, Serbia and Montenegro.

Baron Sonnino, the foreign minister, was the first to arrive at the government office. A few minutes a big limousine bearing the premier and his secretary pressed through the crowd. Before night the declaration of the government may be known.

An ultimatum may be on its way to Austria before night. The cabinet took a recess until late this afternoon. The morning session was brief. The senate met this afternoon to ratify the action of the Chamber of Deputies in approving the government's program. It was understood the minister would take decisive action immediately after the senate adjourned.

The German and Austrian ambassadors had not left Rome early this afternoon.

RALEIGH ALUMNI FORM ORGANIZATION

High School Graduates Elect Officers at First Banquet and Plan an Annual Event.

SOME BRIEF TALKS ARE MADE

A permanent organization was perfected last night at the first annual alumni banquet of the Raleigh high school. Officers were elected and it is planned to make the banquet an annual affair. The officers are as follows: Ralph Miles, president; George Bridgeman, vice-president; Eli Martin, treasurer and Mrs. Ruth Hill, secretary.

Over sixty attended the banquet last night and brief talks were given by A. M. Taylor, Mrs. Bertha Smullen, Miss Una Greenwood, O. A. J. Hall, former trustee of Washington township and Edward Jackson, present trustee. One of the features was the quartette composed of Mr. Taylor, Ralph Miles, Eli Martin and Ralph Nipp.

Miss Avis Hudson who is in the St. Vincent hospital in Indianapolis, was reported as being much better this morning.

WATER PROBLEM IS NOW SOLVED

Bloomington Has Enough to Meet All
Needs And it Ranks Well With Any City in State

NEW RESERVIOR COST $40,000

Indiana University Has Enough
Water to Last Two Years Even
If it Did Not Rain

(By United Press.)

Bloomington, Ind., May 21.—“The City of Bloomington now has an adequate water supply to meet all needs, the water as tested by the state chemist ranks well with any city water in the state, and now that the new reservoir is full and overflowing, I am certain that the water situation is the least of the problems of the Bloomington people and students at Indiana University.” This was the statement made by Sup. Helfrich of the City Water Works today in an interview.

The new dam and reservoir completed last fall at a cost of $40,000 has been filled by the recent rains and the water now stands thirty feet deep with the springs running into the reservoir as much as the city uses each day. The old reservoirs are more than half full and the only problem that remains is the laying of the larger mains to the new supply. Work on this already has begun and will be completed by the first of June, according to the engineer in charge.

The authorities at Indiana University, which has its own private water supply, said today that the University reservoir has enough water in it to last at the present rate of consumption, for two years without rain. The water is within eighteen inches of the spillway, the highest point since 1911.

Editors of the state here recently attended a newspaper conference at Indiana University when shown the water supply said that they had no realization that the city was so well provided with water.

A especial meeting of the Tri Kappas will be held at the home of Mrs. R. E. Harrold next Monday afternoon and the attendance of every member is urged.

Amusements

The Mystic will show a two reel drama "A Winning Loser" for the first picture tonight. Joseph Livering and Marion Swayne are featured and it is said to be a beautiful picture. The other is a comedy entitled "The Masqueraders." Charles De Forrest is featured. Tomorrow the two part drama "Avarice" will be shown.

The Princess will show a three reel feature "The White Goddess" for the program tonight. Alice Joyce is featured and it is said to be a thrilling drama. Tomorrow night the two act drama "The Lady of the Cycleman" will be shown.

The Gem offers a three reel feature "The Phantom of a Violin" for tonight. Grace Cunard and Francis Ford are featured. It is said to be a thrilling drama and acted as only these two stars can. It is said to be one of the strongest photoplays ever undertaken by Miss Cunard and Ford. Tomorrow night the fourth installment of "The Black Box" will be shown.

The shake-up to the nerves, the ragtime beat of your heart, the fear that someone will be hurt, with the accompanying apprehension that they may not, all of this—and this is the delight of the Great London Circus, to be here Friday, May 21, must be given by the professionals who shake dice for their lives with fortune every performance.

The Great London Circus is high hygiene. It is a Yankee Doodle circus for Yankee Doodle kids from "six" to "sixty." One of the big acts is the original Zanfretta Family. What this wonderful family do looks easy. Suppose you try it, and newspapers will write a story about it, with a diagram showing the place where your body struck.

Another of the best-ever acts is the leaping contest. Fifty leapers take part. Charles Lumkin is the champion and does a double somersault over elephants, camels and horses. Marie McPhail, Riding Wallets and many other big acts are presented in many new riding stunts.

You will see the Ben Hur herd of Arabian stallions, and the Black Hussars perform. They prove what a perfect world this would be if all men had as much intelligence as horses. You will see elephants waltz, teeter, play hide and seek, and undress and go to bed like people. You will see dog shows and mule shows and countless clowns. The Howe Circus is a great show, presenting magnificent good old barbarous sport that makes you happy in feeling that civilization has not eliminated all the traits your granddads of the stone age left you as a message. The $25,000 Dublin Gray Horses are also coming, and they are a show in themselves.

KAISER TO HAVE THE FINAL WORD

Reports From Berlin Say Emperor William Will Have Last Say in Reply to Protest.

NOTE SAID TO BE WRITTEN

Confidential Messages From Ambassador Gerard Considered by Cabinet Today.

(By United Press.)

Washington, May 21.—News that the kaiser will have the final word in deciding Germany's reply to the Wilson protest against the submarine warfare, reached here today in a report from Berlin. It is stated that Germany's note is completed but is being held up awaiting the kaiser's return to the capitol.

Confidential reports from Ambassador Gerard at Berlin of Germany's attitude toward the United States were considered by President Wilson and cabinet today. Gerard said the German reply would be sent early next week. Members of the cabinet refused to say just what Gerard reported but it was indicated in all of his messages that Germany's apparent desire was to meet the United States more than half way. At the same time he explained that German officials have pointed out that the allies are relying on the United States instead of their own factories for war munitions because of the superiority of the American product. The Germans tell the ambassador they can hardly be blamed for trying to destroy the Merchant and passenger vessels which are carrying contraband of war to the allies.

It was increasingly evident today that this is the most crucial point in the negotiations and it is likely to be the only question remaining unsettled when the German reply is received.

LUMBER AND SHEDS SOLD

J. D. Case Disposes of Part of Holdings to Two Local Men.

The Pinnell-Tompkins Lumber company and J. P. Frazee today purchased the lumber and sheds of the J. D. Case mill. The new owners are as yet undecided as to what they will do with the lumber and yards of the company, but will have something definite next week. Mr. Case retains the planing mill and will continue to operate it. The Case lumber yard is one of the largest in the city and the deal is of no small importance. The consideration was not given out today by the new owners as the lumber is now being invoiced.

FALLING HAIR OR ITCHING SCALP

Now that Parisian Sage—an inexpensive preparation that supplies every hair and scalp need—can be had from Johnson's Drug Store, it is certainly needless to have thin, brittle, matted, stringy faded hair. No matter how unsightly your hair, how badly it is falling, or how much dandruff, Parisian Sage is all that is needed. Every trace of dandruff is removed with one application, the hair roots are nourished and stimulated to grow new hair, itching scalp and falling hair ceases.

Parisian Sage is certainly one of the most invigorating tonics, and will surely make your hair soft, abundant and radiant with life and beauty.

Condition of Business.

The matter of where business stands in regard to the Wilson Administration is clearly shown in the address delivered by Albert Greene Duncan, the President of Cotton Manufacturers, at the annual convention of this Association just held. It is an Association that is non-political and non-partisan. It includes in its membership both Democrats and Republicans and men of the South as well as of the North. As the spokesman and representative of this body, which has had nearly a century of existence, Mr. Duncan said:

"The halting attitude of business is the natural sequence of our recent national policies, and is caused by the fear of the legislative and governmental campaign against business. The policy of the party in power has been called 'the freeing of business from its shackles,' but, in spite of this well-sounding phrase, business man who has undergone the freeing process finds himself more hampered and harassed than at any previous time in our history. The war, in a financial sense, is a blessing in disguise. Because of it, the new tariff law is at the moment in-operative in effect, though present as a menace. The extent of the disaster that would have overtaken our industries had the operation of the new tariff continued day, no man can estimate."

At the present rate of slaughter, how long will it require to depopulate the world?

America is a great country. Let us resolve to maintain that greatness to the end.

Uncle may not be hankering for a fight, but he is not going to slide over the back fence.

had passed. The old-time methods may have passed, she asserted, but hospitality lives on.

"Customs both old and new are employed," she continued. "It makes no difference to us whether the women of Rushville employ old or new methods, we know that if the methods are old, they will vie with the new, if they are the standard. We have come for mutual pleasure and profit, but we hope also to leave behind pleasant dreams in your memory."

In opening her address, Mrs. McWhirter paid tribute to the loyalty of the former chairmen of the sixth district federation, who have brought the district to the front rank in Indiana.

"My subject," she said, "is both old and new. In 1800 the women couldn't own their own property. They belonged to their husbands. The husband had a right to punish his wife as he would his child, the court interfering when the punishment was too severe. It was a disgrace for women to earn money. If unmarried, it was proper for her to be supported by male kin. She was believed incompetent. The men sat on one side of the church at worship and the women on the other. She was not permitted to pray and in some places not allowed to sing. She was not supposed to hold any serious opinions on anything. She was taught that the clinging woman was the only one men admired."

Mrs. McWhirter then cited the protests against such methods which had been made by the leaders of women. The first recognition of women in an educational way was in 1820 when Governor Dewitt of New York called attention to the academy at Waterloo for females. That was the first attempt by the state to educate women, she said. Mrs. McWhirter said that in 1822 the Boston high school was opened to girls.

Mrs. McWhirter said that the first society organized by women was to oppose slavery. She recalled the national meeting of the M. E. church not many years ago when women delegates were refused seating, but added that no such thing happened nowadays. She said that education began in a broad sense at Oberlin college. It has been five decades since high schools were generally open to girls, she said, and you and I can remember when the colleges opened for women in a general way.

Mrs. McWhirter told of the first women's club with a constitution being organized in Indiana. Before 1851, she said, a woman's suffrage organization was formed in Indiana.

"When the first women's clubs began studying for self culture," she continued, "they were preparing themselves for that which had been denied them for a century. They were preparing to work collectively. I have found that women have always founded organizations upon some great need. They have aided school boards; they have benefited sanitation. The question arose in the W. T. C. U. how to get rid of the saloon. The women concluded they would have to have the ballot because the saloon had become a part of the government and had to be dealt with as such."

Mrs. McWhirter told how the suffrage question was thought of for years and as each biennial meeting of the general federation passed, it was expected the question would arise, but it did not until last June it was injected into the general federation meeting at Chicago and endorsed. Then the state federations took it up, she said.

"Women pay taxes and they are not in the majority in the penal institutions," Mrs. McWhirter declared. "They have no voice in the school buildings, who shall be on the school board or what the school curriculum shall be. Last year seventy-five per cent. of the high school graduates were girls. We know the schools are interested in girls. We also know women are going to have a place on school boards and something to say about school curriculum.

Mrs. McWhirter spoke briefly of value of parent-teachers club and then put the question: "Why is the feminist movement?" She answered it like this:

"Simply because girls and women have been allowed education, and when educated, men know they are not going to stay in the same bounds."

She recalled that some people think women are too busy to vote and then illustrated by an incident how little it takes to vote. She stated that the men and women in the homes of the United States have to solve the domestic problem. She commented on the state of affairs that causes the domestic to lose her identity and that compels the young men to call for her to go back to the kitchen door when he may be dressed to take her to church. She illustrated this condition by calling attention to the fact that in the list of the dead on the Lusitania was Mrs. — and maid.

"That maid may have been an educated woman," she added, "possibly a high school graduate or a college graduate for some educated women travel as maid for the value of travel. She may have had the same impulses as you and I; the same high ideals, but she lost her identity and went unknown to her grave."

Mrs. McWhirter made a forceful plea for peace. "While we have been thinking of peace," she said, "we have come to realize that the liquor traffic is doomed. Men are elected to the next congress will have to be taken with the prohibition and suffrage forces. The next president of the United States will have to stand on an equal suffrage plank and possibly on a prohibition plank."

"The men of the world and they are going to respond to the efforts of two million federated club women. The mother follows her son or daughter wherever he or she may go. She can not help it because God made her heart that way. All that we ask is that you give us the opportunity to express our opinion."

The program before the address brought forth prolonged applause. It opened with a song by the high school chorus. There was a piano duo by Mrs. Verl Bebout and Miss Jennie Madden. Mrs. Owen Hill of Carthage pronounced the invocation. Miss Helen Scott and Mrs. Carl F.

DON'T WASH YOUR HAIR WITH SOAP

When you wash your hair, don't use soap. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulford coconut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

Behr sang a duet, with Miss Martha Hogsett as the accompanist. B. F. Miller sang, Miss Jessie Kitchen acting as accompanist. Miss Frances Frazee gave a reading and had to respond with another because the applause was so insistent. The last number on the program was a solo by Miss Norma Smith, Miss May Smith accompanying her.

Miss Vida Newsom, of Columbus, president of the Indiana Federation of Women's Clubs, delivered her annual address before the club women at the opening session yesterday afternoon. Previous to her address there was a short history of Rush county read by Mrs. E. B. Thomas, which brought out the fact that Rush county derived its name from Benjamin Rush, a great man in the medical world of his day. Mrs. Thomas' paper was very interesting and held the attention of more than two hundred women who were present.

Miss Newsom asserted that the Indiana federation was worthy of recognition because of its ideals, regardless of the work it has and is accomplishing. Miss Newsom, at the outset, used superlatives in complimenting Rushville on the new school building and congratulated the club women that they should be among the first to meet in the splendid structure.

Miss Newsom congratulated the club women of the sixth district on the fine attendance for the opening session. She also extended congratulations to the club women for the capable district chairman they have, Mrs. T. B. Benton Henley, of Carthage, who became chairman when Mrs. J. M. Hamilton, of Brookville, who was elected chairman, died. The state president said the sixth district chairman was considered one of the best of the thirteen in Indiana and declared her to be a worthy predecessor to Mrs. Hamilton.

"We hope to have every county in Indiana on the federated map by the next state convention," said the state president. "We added sixty-five clubs with an approximate membership of 3,500 last year and have added twenty-six already this year. We hope to make it seventy-five or eighty by the time for the state convention."

Miss Newsom extended an invitation to the non-federated clubs to join the federation, but if they did not wish to do that, she asked that they co-operate with the federation. She said many clubs asked what they could get out of the state federation. She declared as a matter of fact they could get much, but what they should ask is what they can do to help the work of the state federation. She called attention to the fact that the very name federation signifies co-operation.

Miss Newsom said that the clubs which join the federation will be less self-centered and more altruistic. She called attention to the fact that it was the lack of knowledge of the work of the federated clubs that caused the national president to advocate a state and national publicity campaign. She asserted that the federated clubs needed to be revitalized. Miss Newsom declared that the clubs which were not interested in the federation work were those which were not in touch with it, else they would be interested. Miss Newsom told briefly something of the legislative campaign of the federation during the last legislature.

Mrs. Henly presided at the meeting and Mrs. O. L. Stivers of Liberty, district secretary-treasurer, acted as secretary. The session opened with the club collect and was followed by a piano duo by Miss Martha Hogsett and Miss Norma Smith. A condensed report of the committees of the district organization was read and committees were appointed for the present convention.

The federated clubs in the county which are acting as hostesses are as follows: Womans Literary Circle of Carthage; the Monday Study Circle and the Literary Research Club of Milroy; the Ladies Musicales, Monday Circle and the Shakespeare Club of Rushville.

FIGHT FANS ARE BUSY TALKING

Conversation Always End up as To
Who is to be Next Man to Face
Jess Willard

THIS IS OF GREAT INTEREST

McGraw is Having Trouble With His
Outfield And Snodgrass is Sorely Missed

BY HAL SHERIDAN
(Written for United Press.)

New York, May 21.—The advance signs of coming summer seem not to deter the fight bugs. Straw hats are as common as flies in August along Broadway now but the indoor winter sport is claiming more than its share of attention. Everywhere there is an undercurrent of talk about the big fighters, and finally the discussion always leads around to the question; When and who will Jess Willard mix it with? That seems to be of more importance to the Broadway fight sport than anything on the calendar just now.

And Billy Gibson's request for $10,000 for Jim Coffey's end in a match with Charley Weinert has stirred the unsettled waters anew. Jack Bulger, Weinert's manager, replied he was willing to split that figure. But Gibson can hold out, for Coffey is worth all he can get and would prove a mighty good drawing card in such a match. Of course the talk of his meeting Willard right soon is a little premature, but Coffey ought to be able to hold his own with Weinert.

But the big idea in Gibson's mind is that Coffey is in training for a match with Willard—sometime. The date is not of much importance for the big champion is not anxious to display his wares in the roped ring just yet; but when he is prepared to come out into the ring again Jim Coffey expects to be sitting inside the ropes waiting for Jess.

So Gibson wants Coffey to meet all comers until the big time arrives, when his fighter will be in condition to stand up to the champ. Billy Gibson is a crafty manager but it will take some clever work to force the big Kansas cowboy champ into the ring before he wants to.

However, unless Gibson and Bulger comes to terms there is not much chance of Coffey meeting Weinert. The Broadway Sporting Club wanted the match as Coffey is a favorite of the New York fight "bugs" just now.

A regular vanload of trouble has been wished on McGraw and he cannot seem to dump it. Fred Snodgrass is sorely missed by the New York team, for outfielders who can both field and hit are at a premium just now. Fred's sore hand must be practically well, and he should be back in the game soon. But picking out of the Giant's troubles is small work these days. They are so plentiful they might jump right up in your face. In fact, the old time stars are neck deep in a sea of misfortune.

The recent winning of the Modified Marathon in New York by Hannes Kolehmanien seems not to discourage local runners. Almost nightly a score of white pants and bare legs can be seen running around New York's well known parks. What these promising athletes are training for is unknown. Perhaps they are preparing for next year's marathon.

NEW PITCHER IS ANNOUNCED

Davidson Lines up Hewitt For Mound Duty And Also Signs
Deitrich For Shortstop.

BLUE LICKS STRONG TEAM

Efforts to Get Winner For Rushville
Being Made in Getting New Players—All Set Now

After shaking the bushes all week in an effort to secure additional strength for the Rushers, Manager Davidson announces that he has secured a new pitcher and a new short stop. The pitcher's name is Hewitt and the shortstop is Deitrich. Davidson states that these two men were the very best he could secure and with Brieteistien added to the outfield the Rushville team should be all set for the rest of the season.

The time for experimenting has passed and the new players are surely an improvement for Davidson knows that the team will have to play ball. The new lineup will get a severe test in the game Sunday with the Blue Licks. This famous club headed by Harry Bacon will surely give the Rushers a lively tussle.

In the lineup of the Blue Licks will be found Kuhlman, who formerly played with Connorsville as did Bacon, the pitcher. Their line up is as follows: Kuhlman, center field; Nordman, third base; Grote, catch; Herzel, short stop; Barbrink, second Steiner, first base; Norris, right field; Korte, left field; and Bacon or Retsch, pitch.

This is the same team that won last Sunday from the All-Pro. A team that beats the All-Pro must be pretty good and the fans are certain to see a good game here Sunday.

The club directors and Manager Davidson are determined to have a winner and despite the poor start the fans are asked to withhold judgment. It is predicted that before the season is very far advanced they will be clamoring to get in the ball park.

With Hewitt pitching and Deitrich on short the team should present a greatly changed front. Davidson states that good pitchers around Cincinnati are very scarce and it was only after the hardest kind of work that Hewitt was secured. He is a pitcher with a league experience and is said to be as good as Al Leake. In this case the fans need not worry over a winner. The game will be called at 2:30 o'clock.

INDIANAPOLIS IS CHOICE FOR MEET

High School Athletic Officials Likely
To Hold All State Meets
There in Future

ONE LAST WEEK BIG SUCCESS

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., May 21.—That the annual state high school track meet will be held at Indianapolis in the future was the opinion of the officers of the Indiana High School Athletic Association today. The success of last Saturday's meet showed the advantages of holding the meet here.

In the past the meet has been handed around among the colleges and universities of the state. Indianapolis is better able to take care of the increasing crowds of athletes and rooters and the city is more centrally located than any of the college cities of the state.

The BLACK BOX

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

Author of "The Moving Finger," "The Prince of Sinners," "Anna, the Adventuress," etc.

(Copyright, 1915, by Otis F. Wood.)

He opened what seemed to be a little mahogany box, looked at the ball of black substance inside, closed it up, placed it against the far wall, untwisted the coil, stood back near the door and then pressed the button. The result was extraordinary. The whole of the far wall was blown out and for some distance in front of the ground was furrowed up by the explosion. Quest replaced the instrument in his pocket, sprang through the opening and ran for the tower house. Behind him on its way to New York he could see a freight train coming along. He could hear, too, Red Gallagher's roar of anger. It was less than fifty yards, yet as soon as he reached the shelter of the tower the thunder of the freight sounded in Quest's ears. He glanced around. Red Gallagher and his mate were racing almost side by side towards him. He rushed up the narrow stairs into the signal room, tearing open his coat to show his official badge. "Stop the freight," he shouted to the operator. "Quick. I'm Sanford Quest, detective—special powers from the chief commissioner."

The man moved to the signal. Another voice thundered in his ears. He turned swiftly around. The Irishman's red head had appeared at the top of the staircase.

"Drop that signal or I'll blow you

GLASSES FURNISHED
DR. F. G. HACKLEMAN

she was becoming a little tactless. "Of course," she sighed, "it is disappointing not to be able to lay your hands upon the thief. That is where I suppose you must find the interference of an amateur like Mr. Quest. A little troublesome sometimes. He gets back the property, which is what the private individual wants, but he doesn't secure the thief, which is, of course, the real end of the case from your point of view."

"It's a queer affair about these jewels," the inspector remarked. "Quest hasn't told me the whole story yet. Here we are on the stroke of time!" The car drew up outside Quest's house. The inspector assisted his companion to alight and rang the bell at the front door. There was a somewhat prolonged pause. He rang again. "Never knew this to happen before," he remarked. "That sort of secretary-valet of Mr. Quest's—Ross Brown I think he calls him—is always on the spot." They waited for some time, there was still no answer to their summons. The inspector placed his ear to the keyhole. There was not a sound to be heard. He drew back, a little puzzled. At that moment his attention was caught by the fluttering of a little piece of white material caught in the door. He pulled it out. It was a fragment of white embroidery, and on it were several small stains. The inspector looked at them and looked at his fingers. His face grew suddenly grave.

"Seems to me," he muttered, "that there has been some trouble here. I shall have to take a liberty. If you'll excuse me, Mrs. Rheinholdt, I think it would be better if you waited in the car until I send out for you."

"You don't think the jewels have been stolen again?" she gasped. The inspector made no reply. He had drawn from his pocket a little pass key and was fitting it into the lock. The door swung open. Once more they were both conscious of that peculiar silence, which seemed to have in it some unnamable quality. He moved to the foot of the stairs and shouted:

"Hello! Anyone there?" There was no reply. He opened the doors of the two rooms on the right-hand side, where Quest, when he was engaged in any widespread affair, kept a stenographer and a telegraph operator. Both rooms were empty. Then he turned towards Quest's study on the left-hand side. French was a man of iron nerve. No power on earth could have kept back the cry which broke from his lips.

A few feet away from the door was stretched the body of the secretary-valet. On the other side of the room, lying as though she had slipped from the sofa, her head fallen on one side in hideous fashion, was the body of Miss Quigg, the Salvation Army young woman. French set his teeth and drew back the curtains. In the clearer light the disorder of the room was fully revealed. There had been a terrible struggle. Between whom? How? There was suddenly a piercing shriek. The inspector turned quickly around. Mrs. Rheinholdt, who had disregarded his advice, was standing on the threshold.

"Inspector!" she cried. "What has happened? Oh, my God!"

"You Don't—You Don't Suspect Me of This?"

speed at every yard. Behind, in the shadow of the tower, the signalman lay dead. Quest, half way to New York, stretched flat on his stomach, was struggling for life with knees and hands and feet.

CHAPTER XI.

Mrs. Rheinholdt welcomed the inspector with a beaming smile as he stepped out of his office and approached her automobile.

"How nice of you to be so punctual, Mr. French," she exclaimed, making room for him by her side. "Will you tell the man to drive to Mr. Quest's house in Georgia square?"

The inspector obeyed and took his place in the luxurious limousine.

"How beautifully punctual we are!" she continued, glancing at the clock. "Inspector, I am so excited at the idea of getting my jewels back. Isn't Mr. Quest a wonderful man?"

"He's a clever chap, all right," the inspector admitted. "All the same, I'm rather sorry he wasn't able to lay hands on the thief."

"That's your point of view, of course," Mrs. Rheinholdt remarked. "I can think of nothing but having my diamonds back. I feel I ought to go and thank the professor for recommending Mr. Quest."

The inspector made no reply. Mrs. Rheinholdt was suddenly aware that

She covered her face with her hands. French gripped her by the arm. At that moment there was the sound of an automobile stopping outside.

"Keep quiet for a moment," the inspector whispered in her ear. "Pull yourself together, madam. Go to the other end of the room. Don't look. Stay there for a few moments and then get home as quick as you can." She obeyed him mutely, pressing her hands to her eyes, shivering in every limb. French, stood back inside the room. He heard the front door open, he heard Quest's voice outside.

"Where the devil are you, Ross?"

There was no reply.

The door was pushed open. Quest entered, followed by the professor and Craig. The inspector stood watching their faces. Quest came to a standstill before he had passed the threshold. He looked upon the floor and he looked across to the sofa. Then he looked at French.

"My God!" he muttered.

The professor pushed past. He had looked around the room, and gazed at the two bodies with an expression of blank and absolute terror. Then he fell back into Craig's arms.

"The poor girl!" he cried. "Horrible! Horrible! Horrible!"

"Know anything about this?" Quest asked quickly.

"Not a thing," the inspector replied.

"We arrived, Mrs. Rheinholdt and I, at five minutes past twelve. There was no answer to our ring. I used my pass key and entered. This is what I found."

Quest stood over the body of his valet for a moment. The man was obviously dead. The inspector took his handkerchief and covered up the head. A few feet away was a heavy paper-weight.

"Killed by a blow from behind," French remarked grimly, "with that little affair. Look here!"

They glanced down at the girl. Quest's eyebrows came together quickly. There were two blue marks upon her throat where a man's thumbs might have been.

"The hands again," he muttered. The inspector nodded.

"Can you make anything of it?"

"Not yet," Quest confessed. "I must think."

The inspector glanced at him curiously.

"Where on earth have you been to?" he demanded.

"Been to?" Quest repeated.

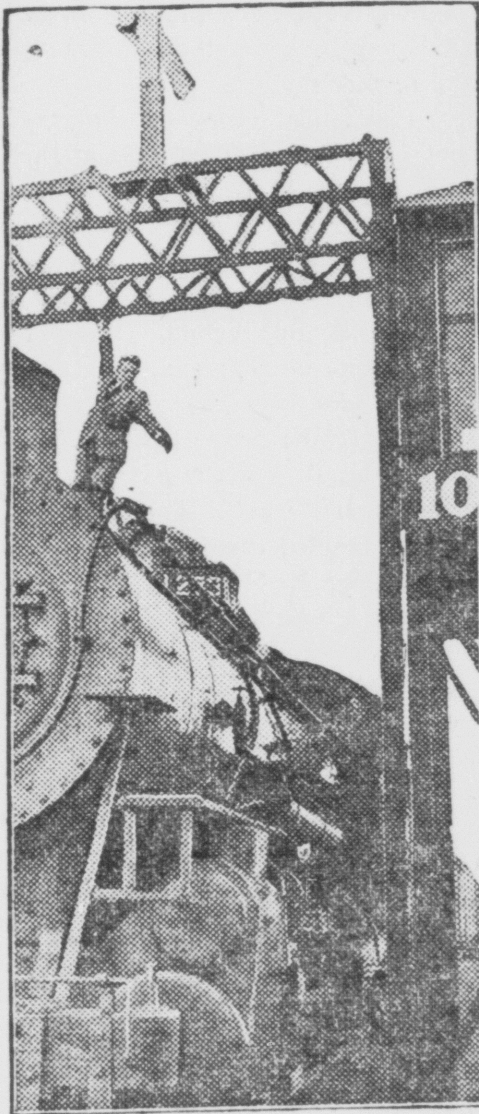

"Look in the mirror!" French suggested.

Quest glanced at himself. His collar had given way, his tie was torn, a button and some of the cloth had been wrenched from his coat, his trousers were torn and he was covered with dust.

"I'll tell you about my trouble a little later on," he replied. "Say, can't we keep those girls out?"

They were too late. Laura and Lenora were already upon the threshold. Quest swung round toward them.

"Girls," he said, "there has been some trouble here. Go and wait upstairs, Lenora, or sit in the hall."

He Set His Teeth and Jumped.

Laura, you had better telephone to the police station and for a doctor. That's right, isn't it, Inspector?" "Yes!" the latter assented thoughtfully.

Lenora, white to the lips, staggered a few feet back into the hall. Laura set her teeth and lingered.

"Is that Ross?" she asked.

"It's his body," Quest replied. "He's been murdered here, he and the Salvation Army girl who was to come this morning for her check."

Laura turned away half dazed.

"I'd have trusted Ross with my life," Quest continued, "but he must have been alone in the house when the girl came. Do you suppose it was the usual sort of trouble?"

Inspector French stooped down and picked up the paper-weight. Across it was stamped the name of Sanford Quest.

"This yours, Quest?"

"Of course it is," Quest answered.

"Everything in the room is mine."

"The girl would fight to defend herself," the inspector remarked slowly, "but she could never strike a man such a blow as your valet died from."

French stooped and picked up a small clock. It had stopped at eleven-fifteen. He looked at it thoughtfully.

"Quest," he went on, "I'll have to ask you a question."

"Why not?" Quest replied looking quickly up.

"Where were you at eleven-fifteen?"

"On tower No. 10 of the New York Central, scrapping for my life," Quest answered grimly. "I've reason to remember it."

Something in the inspector's steady gaze seemed to inspire the criminologist with a new idea. He came a step forward, a little frown upon his forehead.

"Say, French," he exclaimed, "you don't—you don't suspect me of this?"

French was unmoved. He looked Quest in the eyes.

"I don't know," he said.

$3000.00 FIRE PREVENTED

The House the Red Jacket Saved

Read This Letter: "Several years ago I called on Lane & Evans to buy a pump and they almost forced me to buy one of your Fig. 28 Red Jacket Double-Acting Force Pumps and fifty feet of hose when I only intended to buy a cheap set length pump. Mr. Lane put up such strong argument on 'fire protection' that I followed his advice and bought the Fig. 28, little thinking that it would be of any service to me in that respect.

Shortly after the pump was installed, my barn caught fire and had it not been for this pump and hose and the thoughtfulness of Mrs. Barnett, my barn, house and all buildings on the place would have been destroyed."

tion, argued in favor of changing the date to fall.

"Really, now, the men wouldn't run it that way," she said in closing her argument, just as if she had clinched it.

"But maybe the men don't know so well," replied Mrs. Meredith.

Mrs. Frank Craft, of Brookville, spoke briefly on "State Endowment."
She is the sixth district member of the state committee. She explained that the state organization decided it needed an endowment and that circulars had been sent to all federated clubs and county chairmen. The endowment could be raised, she said,
by each federated club member paying 25 cents a year for two years.
She said it was not a question to be decided now because it had been indorsed by the state convention.

Mrs. Craft also proposed that the district contribute $100 to place the name of Mrs. J. M. Hamilton, the deceased district chairman, on the founders' list which includes every person giving $100. She said if every federated club woman gave five cents, the sum could be raised. She said there had been some unfavorable replies to the proposition, and it was not desired that the $100 be an assessment, but a gift. The question was to be decided this afternoon.

Mrs. George E. Mullin of Brookville read a tribute to Mrs. Hamilton, praising her kindly disposition and her love for the federated club work.
Many intimate friends of Mrs. Hamilton were visibly affected by the tribute. She was twice district chairman.

An amendment to the district constitution raising the annual dues from fifty cents to a dollar was read, but a vote on it was postponed until this afternoon. It was explained more money was needed for ordinary expenses.

Mrs. Meredith prepared a printed list of seven questions, all of which were answered by speakers previously designated, and the discussion followed. One of the principal things brought out in the discussions was that women's clubs should do all they could in community development.

The idea was expressed that clubs should undertake charitable and philanthropic work and not leave it all to the churches. It was also stated, in reply to a question, that the women's club movement isn't passing, but is changing.

During the discussion of the question: "What has your club done for the place in which you live?" Mrs.
C. H. Gilbert told something of the accomplishments of the Ladies Musicale. She recited the efforts of the club in giving a well known young woman a musical education and purchasing for her a violin. Mrs.
R. J. Wilson and Mrs. A. L. Aldridge were asked to stand and introduced to the audience as among the leading spirits in the Musicale who had done much in its organization.

Mrs. Meredith said the work of the Musicale was a fine aim for any club. Mrs. Harrell, of Brookville, also complimented the Musicale,
saying that she knew of the work it had done.

A point developed that was applauded was the statement of a Shelbyville delegate who said that geratest thing any town had done for its women's clubs was to recognize them as co-workers. The value of the aid of women in chautauqua work also was discussed. The sentiment seemed to be in favor of small clubs, with a federation, rather than a department club.

Mrs. A. W. Jamieson said department clubs had been successful in Colorado. Mrs. W. D. Foulke of Richmond spoke briefly and Prof.
Mart Matthews of Purdue university outlined the work of the home economic department, also explaining the Smith-Lever bill, which was the first federal law ever passed which recognized home making along with agriculture.

BUDGET SYSTEM
MAY BE INCLUDED

This And Single Tax May be Considered in Planning New System Of Taxation For Indiana

RESULTS TO BE FAR-REACHING

Expert Has Not Yet Been Named But

May be Announced on May 24—

Causes Speculation

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., May 21.—Many believed it probable today that the commission on taxation appointed by Governor Ralston to plan a system of taxation for Indiana will treat the subject in broadest sense, possibly including a budget system for expenditure, and a study of various systems, such as the single tax. The commission may investigate the taxation of insurance companies.

If the commission decides upon such a sweeping investigation, its report would not necessarily call for legislation at once on these matters, it was said, but would lay down certain principles for the state to ponder on. The work of this commission is causing a great deal of speculation, for it is realized that the results may be far-reaching.

The commission was created, to quote the act, to "investigate the problem of taxation in Indiana and consider what changes in the constitution and laws relating to taxation are needed to make a just and equitable system of taxation, and to make such investigation as may be practicable through printed reports and testimony of experts as to taxation reform in other states."

The study of the budget system,
it was admitted, is not directly provided for in the act, but it was argued that any system of taxation however well balanced would be inadequate without a proper system for expenditure of people's money.

The fact that the legislative visiting committee mentioned the budget system as a possible relief for the present unorganized method of ex-pensing the state's money was mentioned by some as an indication that the 1915 legislature itself would look with favor on such an investigation.
One of the leading members of the visiting committee was Charles H.
Bedwell of Sullivan, speaker of the house.

Selling Is MORE than Trading Stock for Money!

Selling is part of the scheme of business. Most anyone can sell once, but selling so you can create permanent customers is selling successfully. That is why we carry the large stock of buggies we have on our sample floor for prospective customers or purchasers to make their selections from.
They don't have to take something they don't want, as we carry every style of buggy that there is a demand for. Then after the customer has made his selection from our stock we tell him exactly what the buggy is and it has to be just as we represent it or we make it that way. The customer takes no chances. He is sure to get just what he pays for. ONE sale reduces itself to a confidence game unless the buyer is perfectly satisfied. Satisfaction sends a customer away with a smile that won't come off. That is why our buggy business has grown. We have found out how to hold customers after we get them and every satisfied customer is bound to bring a new customer sooner or later.
Right now our stock of buggies is complete and if you are needing a buggy come in and make your selection. We have the style you want and we would be glad to have you for one of our satisfied customers. We know you will be glad when you give us your vehicle business, so do it now.

Act quickly in time of danger. In time of kidney danger Doan's Kidney Pills are most effective.

G. Priest, 223 West Third street, Plenty of evidence of their worth. Rushville, says: "For several years I had kidney trouble, which came on by spells. The complaint started with a dull pain just over my kidneys, then I became weak and dizzy. Doan's Kidney Pills were finally brought to my attention and were so highly recommended that I got a supply at Johnson & Co.'s Drug Store. They proved to be the best kidney medicine I had ever tried and in a short time, my kidneys were normal."

COMMUNITY EGG CIRCLES URGED

Department of Agriculture Shows How to Get Better Results By Co-Operative Work

PARCEL POST SYSTEM USED

Farmers Urged to Market Product Frequently—New Use For Windfall Apples.

(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, May 21.—Methods organizing community egg circles are being suggested by the Department of Agriculture in special bulletins on the subject. Through the formation of such co-operative societies it is pointed out, the following results are more easily obtained than is possible through individual effort:

The selection of pure breeds that lay more and larger eggs, provision for better care, food, and shelter and dry, vermin-proof nests; confining males except in breeding season; collecting eggs frequently, especially in hot or muggy weather; storing eggs in dry, clean, cool places; using small and dirty eggs at home; marketing frequently, with protection at all times from the heat; selling for cash on a basis of size and quality, "loss off" instead of "case count," using attractive packages and combining of shipments for economy's sake.

Marketing by parcel post is also a part of the egg circle system suggested, as is the method of marketing through a neighborhood creamery. While at first, it is pointed out, the number of eggs marketed may not warrant a central station, with a manager to inspect, grade and market the whole product, such development should be aimed at.

While Congress is devoting a good deal of thought to rural credits and some enactment is anticipated at the next session, the Agriculture Department in a recent bulletin proposes ways in which farmers can improve their personal credit. One is through temporary agreements with existing loan agencies and the other is through organization of cooperative credit associations. The latter method already is in successful use in a number of communities it is stated. The principal underlying the co-operative credit system is where many an honest individual farmer lacks the necessary security to obtain funds needed for equipment, a group of farmers similarly situated can obtain the desired credit by placing the collective good will behind each of the members.

The department's bulletin gives an outline of organization, with suggestions as to limitation of membership, voting powers, how to secure funds, how to make loans, how to manage the association, how to audit accounts, the supervision of loans and other details.

Experiments at the Maryland Agricultural College with a new fly trap have proved highly interesting. The trap is intended not to catch and destroy the flies, but the maggots out of which flies develop. In August and September last year it is reported that the trap used destroyed at least 98 per cent of the larvae breeding in the manure where the experiment was conducted.

The Department of Agriculture, in a bulletin just issued, urges the farmer who specializes in marketing eggs to market his product frequently. The Department has made investigation on 90 Kansas farms to discover how the distance from market influences the frequency of market eggs. Twenty-six of the farmers sent their eggs to market twice a week, 1 sent them once a week, and 3 only once in two weeks.

Windfall apples, which are so often left on the ground to rot, may be made to serve a useful purpose to the economical housewife, says a bulletin just issued by the Department of Agriculture. A little forethought and labor at this time of the year spent on a dispised product of the orchard may supply the winter table with many an appetizing and wholesome dish which otherwise might be either lacking or supplied at a high cost.

Windfall apples may be scanned whole and used as a breakfast dish, for dessert, salads, or baked. There will be many much to much marred for canning whole. In this case the marred places may be removed and the apples sliced and canned for either pie filling or for apple sauce.

For canning windfall apples whole, the department advises the selection of firm but not overripe apples. A great difference in the canned products will be noted in the different varieties of apples.

WAR ODDITIES.

London, May 11. (By Mail to New York)—Since Turkey's entrance into the war, Turkish cigarettes are taboo in England.

King George who rarely smokes cigars used to smoke Turkish cigarettes with a relish. Now, it is learned he has taken to Egyptian blends.

The Prince of Wales, whose short gold tipped Turkish cigarettes were well known to fellow army officers at the beginning of the war, now finds consolation in a favorite brier pipe, in which he smokes a blend of Egyptian and Virginia tobacco. He does not prefer the Turkish. He still smokes cigarettes occasionally, however. They are especially made and are a scant two inches long. This is because the Prince so often finds himself in situations in which smoking is not correct that half the cigarettes he smokes are barely lighted and thrown away.

London tobacco dealers are authority for the statement that Turkish tobacco has practically disappeared from the British market since Turkey declared hostilities, and in many shops they are not now offered for sale.

The British smoking public is following the king and Prince. There is no sympathy for Turkish tobacco.

WOMEN'S CLUB MEETING OF SIXTH

NEXT YEAR AT SHELBYVILLE

Ladies Musicales is Praised During Discussion of Topics in "Question Hour" This Morning.

The business of the eighth annual convention of the Sixth District Federation of Women's Clubs was transacted today, with the election of new officers, the reports of committees and officers, and this afternoon preparations were being made to close the last session about four o'clock.

Mrs. T. B. Henley, of Carthage, the present district chairman, who succeeded Mrs. J. M. Hamilton, of Brookville, who is dead, was re-elected this morning. Mrs. O. L. Stivers, of Liberty, the present secretary-treasurer, was elected vice-chairman, and Mrs. Will Petro, of Cambridge City, secretary-treasurer.
The invitation of Shelbyville to entertain the 1916 meeting was accepted.

Over two hundred delegates had registered this afternoon. There is no doubt, in the minds of Rushville women, but that the bad weather kept many away. At any rate, it was a highly successful meeting and Rushville women were being complimented this afternoon for it.

Lunch was served to all of the visitors as well as the federated club women of the county at the Main Street Christian and the St. Paul M.
E. churches. The afternoon program opened with "The Feast of the Little Lanterns," a Japanese operetta by the Ladies Musicales. Mrs.
W. W. Thornton spoke on "Public Health Nursing." The address on "Co-operative Blind Work," by Mrs.
E. K. Montgomery, of Shelbyville, which was on this morning's program, was moved forward to this afternoon.

Mrs. Montgomery is chairman of the committee appointed at the state meeting to investigation of the blind people of Indiana. She made an earnest plea this afternoon to the women to take the work and establish a state home for the adult blind.
The women will work in conjunction with the commission appointed by the governor for a similar purpose.

The "Question Hour" conducted just before lunch hour by Mrs. Virginia C. Meredith of Cambridge City developed one of the most interesting discussions of the meeting. Incidentally, the Ladies Musicales of this city came in for warm praise because of its endeavors during the little less than thirty years of its life.

Reports from all of the county chairmen, excepting Henry, whose chairman was absent because of illness, were made this morning. The Hancock county federation boasts of seventeen clubs, nine in the country and eight in Greenfield. Each chairman outlined briefly the activities of the clubs during the year.

During the "Question Hour," in the course of the discussion of what the district meeting accomplishes, the question arose as to why the meeting should not be changed to fall because just now the clubs are closing for the season and when the dele-

MUST STAND ON A SUFFRAGE PLANK

Mrs. Felix McWhirter, Speaking Before Federated Clubs, Says Next President Must be Pledged.

TO THE WOMEN'S MOVEMENT

Former President of State Federation Traces Development of Equal Suffrage Question.

That the next president of the United States will have to stand on an equal suffrage plank, so fast have these two movements spread in the last few years, was the declaration of Mrs. Felix McWhirter, of Indianapolis, former president of the Indiana Federation of Women's Clubs, discussing "The Feminist Movement" at last night's session of the sixth district club women's meeting at the Graham Annex auditorium.

Mrs. McWhirter traced the development of the women's movement for more than a century, marking back to the time when co-education was unknown, even in the high schools of the United States; when women were not allowed to own property and it was considered a disgrace for a woman to work.

The visiting club women were welcomed to Rushville at last night's meeting, and the welcome was responded to. There was also a delightful musical program, all of which held the crowd of five hundred people until ten o'clock.

Mrs. Louis C. Lambert, speaking on behalf of the federated clubs of the county, welcomed the club women here, declaring that actions speak louder than words and that the visitors should observe the actions of their hostesses. She said the Rush county women had planned long for the meeting, but that the weather man and the carpenters yesterday afternoon seemed determined to spoil it all. However, she continued, there were good things in store.

Judge Will M. Sparks welcomed the guests on behalf of the city.
"There may be better places on this earth than Rushville," he said, "but we have never seen them. There may be more lovable people on this earth, but we don't admit it. So we welcome you, co-extensive with our ability."

Judge Sparks said some nice things about the women. He said women were fine observers, and the only difference between them and the men was that they always went straight to the point. He pointed out that men are no longer saying that the home is the sphere for the woman.

"They have come on to the scene of action," he continued, "to do these things because men have failed to do them. They have elevated society and helped communities. If they do not think conditions are right for their children, they have a right to go out and better them."

"We welcome you here," said Judge Sparks in closing, "not only for what you are, but for what you stand for. Hail the day when every woman shall have a ring on her finger and a vote in her hand."

Mrs. Scott Michner, of Connersville, who responded to the welcome, said some persons were so thoughtless as to say in the presence of hosts that the old-time hospitality

one of the busiest days in court here for several years.

Two of the cases involving A. P.
Walker as the plaintiff and A. B.
Irvin and the Farmers Trust Company as the defendants were sent to Shelby county on changes of venue.
Still another case involving these two parties was dismissed. The one dismissed was the one in which Walker sued A. B. Irvin and the Rushville Glove company, for damages demanding $3,000. A motion of the defendant to publish depositions was sustained and then the plaintiff filed a motion for a change of venue from the county. Judge Springer overruled
the motion for a change of venue and then the plaintiff asked to withdraw the pleadings. When this was overruled the plaintiff Walker moved to dismiss and the costs were placed against him.

In the case of Walker against the Farmers Trust company for an accounting, demanding $10,000, a change of venue was granted and the case sent to Shelby county. Ten days were given in which to perfect the change. Judge Springer held that the argument on a motion to strike out the amended third paragraph of the complaint should be heard before compelling the defendant to answer the rule placed against him. When it was seen that the court held firm in his decision, the written motion for a change of venue was filed and granted.

The other Walker case that was sent to Shelby county was the one against the Farmers Trust company and Claude Walker to cancel notes.
The motion for a change of venue was filed by Walker's attorneys and was granted by Judge Springer. Ten days were given in which to perfect the change.

Only two Walker cases now remain on the docket here. They are the one involving the Ideal Husker Company and the sale of the Walker farm. The case heard yesterday by Judge Springer in which John Le Sueur sued Walker on an account is ready for argument, all of the evidence have been submitted. The final argument will take place next Wednesday.

Judge Springer granted a divorce to August Ebbing from Ollie J. Ebbing and found against Mrs. Ebbing on her cross-complaint. The costs were taxed against Ebbing and the decree is to be entered upon payment of the costs. The case was heard some time ago and taken under advisement by the court.

Judge Springer was appointed special judge in several other cases by Judge Sparks. He will act as judge in the case of A. L. Winslip against Alexander Johnson, Rettie Johnson and Alberta Walker. He will also hear the case of Austen Frazee against the Pennsylvania railway. It is a damage suit in which $200 is demanded.

Judge Springer returned his finding in the suit of Morton Barber against John and Mary Jamieson, to foreclose a mechanics lien, demanding $100. The court found for Barber in the sum of $25.75 and $12.50

IS "CIRCUS DAY"
FOR RUSHVILLE

Howe's Great London Shows Arrive
On Time For Their Two Performances Here

PARADE WAS BIG FEATURE

Everything is New And The 300
Head of Horses Presented Especially Good Appearance

This is "circus day," and there is no one better aware of this than the youngsters of the city. Howe's Great London Shows arrived here early this morning over the Pennsylv-vania, and was greeted by a large crowd interested in the work of unloading and setting up the "big top."
The circus is located at the show grounds in West Third street.

The first circus of the season and perhaps the only one that will visit Rushville was witnessed by a large audience at the performance this afternoon and a still larger crowd is promised for tonight. The tent is absolutely rain proof.

Everything with the circus is brand new and clean. The street parade impressed many because of the clean appearance. The horses especially appeared in fine condition and the parade as a whole was a credit to a circus of much larger proportions. A large crowd witnessed the parade. The Howe show takes great pride in the horses, having 300 of the finest animals owned by any circus. They are well taken care of and well trained.

Previous to this afternoon's performance, many of the cages were thrown open to the people and there were free exhibitions also. The performance started at 2 o'clock and was attended by a large crowd.
There were more than 150 acts in the circus proper, something new going on at all times in the rings, on the elevated stage or on the track.

Another thing in which the Howe shows management takes pride is that practically all of the people in the company have been with it for years. Morally and otherwise the company has the reputation of being one of the cleanest on the road.

The Howe shows came originally from London about ten years ago.
The circus went direct to New York city and attempted to follow the same plan there that was used in England, that is establish a year's residence at one city. The plan works well in England, but it is no go in America, as the Howes soon learned. Later the company was reorganized and adopted the American circus plan of one day stands.

Among the features of the show are Prof. R. H. Dockrill and his troupe of wonderful trained horses.
Miss Greer, the feature rider with this act, was sought by a number of big shows this season, but Howe's offered the best inducements.

Another big act is the Uyenna
Royal Japanese troupe. The Gevene family, four girls and two men, do some sensational work on the double tight wire. The shows have a fine line of aerial acts and a bunch of the funniest clowns in the circus business.

The doors will open again at 7 o'clock tonight so that an opportunity may be had to see and animals before going into the circus.

JUBILEE MEETING ENDS

Anniversary Session of Press Association Was Success

(By United Press.)

Chicago, May 21.—After one of the most successful meetings in the history of the organization, the Illinois Press Association, holding its golden jubilee anniversary here since Wednesday, was due to adjourn at the close of today's sessions. A theater party tonight concludes the social program of the members who came from all sections of the state to attend the meetings.

FORTY-EIGHT IN CLASS

(By United Press.)

Decatur, Ind., May 12.—With a class of forty-eight members of the Decatur high school will graduate the largest number in its history tonight. William Rainey Bennett of Chicago, the noted speaker, will address the graduates.

AN ULTIMATUM IS DUE TODAY

One From Italy to Austria May be on its Way, Decisive Action Being Expected.

SENATE WILL CONFIRM ACT

Wild Rumors That Italian and Austrian Forces Clash Keep People in Feverish Heat.

(By United Press.)

Rome, Italy, May 21.—Armed with power to declare war, the Italian cabinet was summoned at an unusually early hour today, while the nation awaited action in a volcano of excitement. Wild rumors that the Italian and Austrian forces had clashed on the border and that the Italian fleet had set sail gave additional force to keep the people at feverish heat of excitement.

The Royal decree suspending diplomatic relations between Italy and Germany and Austria is expected at any moment. Both the Austrian and German ambassadors will undoubtedly leave Rome tomorrow, it was reported at the foreign legation.

Until day break today a crowd of 200,000 surged through the streets of Rome bearing flags of Italy, France, England, Russia, Serbia and Mone-tegro.

Baron Sonnino, the foreign minister, was the first to arrive at the government office. A few minutes a big limousine bearing the premier and his secretary pressed through the crowd. Before night the declaration of the government may be known.

An ultimatum may be on its way to Austria before night. The cabinet took a recess until late this afternoon. The morning session was brief. The senate met this afternoon to ratify the action of the Chamber of Deputies in approving the government's program. It was understood the minister would take decisive action immediately after the senate adjourned.

The German and Austrian ambassadors had not left Rome early this afternoon.

RALEIGH ALUMNI
FORM ORGANIZATION

High School Graduates Elect Officers at First Banquet and Plan an Annual Event.

SOME BRIEF TALKS ARE MADE

A permanent organization was perfected last night at the first annual alumni banquet of the Raleigh high school. Officers were elected and it is planned to make the banquet an annual affair. The officers are as follows: Ralph Miles, president; George Bridgeman, vice-president; Eli Martin, treasurer and Mrs. Ruth Hill, secretary.

Over sixty attended the banquet last night and brief talks were given by A. M. Taylor, Mrs. Bertha Smullen, Miss Una Greenwood, O. A. J.
Hall, former trustee of Washington township and Edward Jackson, present trustee. One of the features was the quartette composed of Mr. Taylor, Ralph Miles, Eli Martin and Ralph Nipp.

Miss Avis Hudson who is in the St. Vincent hospital in Indianapolis, was reported as being much better
this morning.

WATER PROBLEM IS NOW SOLVED

Bloomington Has Enough to Meet All
Needs And it Ranks Well With
Any City in State

NEW RESERVIOR COST $40,000

Indiana University Has Enough
Water to Last Two Years Even
If it Did Not Rain

(By United Press.)

Bloomington, Ind., May 21.—“The City of Bloomington now has an adequate water supply to meet all needs, the water as tested by the state chemist ranks well with any city water in the state, and now that the new reservoir is full and overflowing, I am certain that the water situation is the least of the problems of the Bloomington people and students at Indiana University.” This was the statement made by Sup. Helfrich of the City Water Works today in an interview.

The new dam and reservoir completed last fall at a cost of $40,000 has been filled by the recent rains and the water now stands thirty feet deep with the springs running into the reservoir as much as the city uses each day. The old reservoirs are more than half full and the only problem that remains is the laying of the larger mains to the new supply. Work on this already has begun and will be completed by the first of June, according to the engineer in charge.

The authorities at Indiana University, which has its own private water supply, said today that the University reservoir has enough water in it to last at the present rate of consumption, for two years without rain. The water is within eighteen inches of the spillway, the highest point since 1911.

Editors of the state here recently attended a newspaper conference at Indiana University when shown the water supply said that they had no realization that the city was so well provided with water.

CALUMET BAKING POWDER”

That's the way to talk when anybody tries to sell you some other kind. Insist on Calumet and see that you get it. Then you'll always be sure that there'll be no failure to waste time and materials — that every time you put a baking into the oven it will come out light as down, pure and uniformly raised.

For your own satisfaction, test Calumet. Compare it with every other kind in the one test that tells — baking, and see how much better Calumet makes the food.

A especial meeting of the Tri Kappas will be held at the home of Mrs. R. E. Harrold next Monday afternoon and the attendance of every member is urged.

Amusements

The Mystic will show a two reel drama "A Winning Loser" for the first picture tonight. Joseph Livering and Marion Swayne are featured and it is said to be a beautiful picture. The other is a comedy entitled "The Masqueraders." Charles De Forrest is featured. Tomorrow the two part drama "Avarice" will be shown.

The Princess will show a three reel feature "The White Goddess" for the program tonight. Alice Joyce is featured and it is said to be a thrilling drama. Tomorrow night the two act drama "The Lady of the Cyclemen" will be shown.

The Gem offers a three reel feature "The Phantom of a Violin" for tonight. Grace Cunard and Francis Ford are featured. It is said to be a thrilling drama and acted as only these two stars can. It is said to be one of the strongest photoplays ever undertaken by Miss Cunard and Ford. Tomorrow night the fourth installment of "The Black Box" will be shown.

The shake-up to the nerves, the ragtime beat of your heart, the fear that someone will be hurt, with the accompanying apprehension that they may not, all of this—and this is the delight of the Great London Circus, to be here Friday, May 21, must be given by the professionals who shake dice for their lives with fortune every performance.

The Great London Circus is high hygiene. It is a Yankee Doodle circus for Yankee Doodle kids from "six" to "sixty." One of the big acts is the original Zaufretta Family. What this wonderful family do looks easy. Suppose you try it, and newspapers will write a story about it, with a diagram showing the place where your body struck.

Another of the best-ever acts is the leaping contest. Iffty leapers take part. Charles Lumkin is the champion and does a double somersault over elephants, camels and horses. Marie McPhail, Riding Wallets and many other big acts are presented in many new riding stunts.

You will see the Ben Hur herd of Arabian stallions, and the Black Hussar horses perform. They prove what a perfect world this would be if all men had as much intelligence as horses. You will see elephants waltz, teeter, play hide and seek, and undress and go to bed like people. You will see dog shows and mule shows and countless clowns. The Howe Circus is a great show, presenting magnificent good old barbarous sport that makes you happy in feeling that civilization has not eliminated all the traits your granddads of the stone age left you as a message. The $25,000 Dublin Gray Horses are also coming, and they are a show in themselves.

KAISER TO HAVE THE FINAL WORD

Reports From Berlin Say Emperor William Will Have Last Say in Reply to Protest.

NOTE SAID TO BE WRITTEN

Confidential Messages From Ambassador Gerard Considered by Cabinet Today.

(By United Press.)
 Washington, May 21.—News that the kaiser will have the final word in deciding Germany's reply to the Wilson protest against the submarine warfare, reached here today in a report from Berlin. It is stated that Germany's note is completed but is being held up awaiting the kaiser's return to the capitol.

Confidential reports from Ambassador Gerard at Berlin of Germany's attitude toward the United States were considered by President Wilson and cabinet today. Gerard said the German reply would be sent early next week. Members of the cabinet refused to say just what Gerard reported but it was indicated in all of his messages that Germany's apparent desire was to meet the United States more than half way. At the same time he explained that German officials have pointed out that the allies are relying on the United States instead of their own factories for war munitions because of the superiority of the American product. The Germans tell the ambassador they can hardly be blamed for trying to destroy the Merchant and passenger vessels which are carrying contraband of war to the allies.

It was increasingly evident today that this is the most crucial point in the negotiations and it is likely to be the only question remaining unsettled when the German reply is received.

LUMBER AND SHEDS SOLD

J. D. Case Disposes of Part of Holdings to Two Local Men.

The Pinnell-Tompkins Lumber company and J. P. Frazee today purchased the lumber and sheds of the J. D. Case mill. The new owners are as yet undecided as to what they will do with the lumber and yards of the company, but will have something definite next week. Mr. Case retains the planing mill and will continue to operate it. The Case lumber yard is one of the largest in the city and the deal is of no small importance. The consideration was not given out today by the new owners as the lumber is now being invoiced.

FALLING HAIR OR ITCHING SCALP

Now that Parisian Sage—an inexpensive preparation that supplies every hair and scalp need—can be had from Johnson's Drug Store, it is certainly needless to have thin, brittle, matted, stringy faded hair. No matter how unsightly your hair, how badly it is falling, or how much dandruff, Parisian Sage is all that is needed. Every trace of dandruff is removed with one application, the hair roots are nourished and stimulated to grow new hair, itching scalp and falling hair ceases.

Condition of Business.

The matter of where business stands in regard to the Wilson Administration is clearly shown in the address delivered by Albert Greene Duncan, the President of Cotton Manufacturers, at the annual convention of this Association just held. It is an Association that is non-political and non-partisan. It includes in its membership both Democrats and Republicans and men of the South as well as of the North. As the spokesman and representative of this body, which has had nearly a century of existence, Mr. Duncan said:

"The halting attitude of business is the natural sequence of our recent national policies, and is caused by the fear of the legislative and governmental campaign against business. The policy of the party in power has been called 'the freeing of business from its shackles,' but, in spite of this well-sounding phrase, business men who have undergone the freeing process find himself more hampered and harassed than at any previous time in our history. The war, in a financial sense, is a blessing in disguise. Because of it, the new tariff law is at the moment inoperative in effect, though present as a menace. The extent of the disaster that would have overtaken our industries had the operation of the new tariff continued day, no man can estimate."

At the present rate of slaughter, how long will it require to depopulate the world?

America is a great country. Let us resolve to maintain that greatness to the end.

Uncle may not be hankering for a fight, but he is not going to slide over the back fence.

had passed. The old-time methods may have passed, she asserted, but hospitality lives on.

"Customs both old and new are employed," she continued. "It makes no difference to us whether the women of Rushville employ old or new methods, we know that if the methods are old, they will vie with the new, if they are the standard. We have come for mutual pleasure and profit, but we hope also to leave behind pleasant dreams in your memory."

In opening her address, Mrs. McWhirter paid tribute to the loyalty of the former chairmen of the sixth district federation, who have brought the district to the front rank in Indiana.

"My subject," she said, "is both old and new. In 1800 the women couldn't own their own property. They belonged to their husbands. The husband had a right to punish his wife as he would his child, the court interfering when the punishment was too severe. It was a disgrace for women to earn money. If unmarried, it was proper for her to be supported by male kin. She was believed incompetent. The men sat on one side of the church at worship and the women on the other. She was not permitted to pray and in some places not allowed to sing. She was not supposed to hold any serious opinions on anything. She was taught that the clinging woman was the only one men admired."

Mrs. McWhirter then cited the protests against such methods which had been made by the leaders of women. The first recognition of women in an educational way was in 1820 when Governor Dewitt of New York called attention to the academy at Waterloo for females. That was the first attempt by the state to educate women, she said. Mrs. McWhirter said that in 1822 the Boston high school was opened to girls.

Mrs. McWhirter said that the first society organized by women was to oppose slavery. She recalled the national meeting of the M. E. church not many years ago when women delegates were refused seats, but added that no such thing happened nowadays. She said that education began in a broad sense at Oberlin college. It has been five decades since high schools were generally open to girls, she said, and you and I can remember when the colleges opened for women in a general way.

Mrs. McWhirter told of the first women's club with a constitution being organized in Indiana. Before 1851, she said, a woman's suffrage organization was formed in Indiana.

"When the first women's clubs began studying for self culture," she continued, "they were preparing themselves for that which had been denied them for a century. They were preparing to work collectively. I have found that women have always founded organizations upon some great need. They have aided school boards; they have benefited sanitation. The question arose in the W. T. C. U. how to get rid of the saloon. The women concluded they would have to have the ballot because the saloon had become a part of the government and had to be dealt with as such."

Mrs. McWhirter told how the suffrage question was thought of for years and as each biennial meeting of the general federation passed, it was expected the question would arise, but it did not until last June it was injected into the general federation meeting at Chicago and indorsed. Then the state federations took it up, she said.

"Women pay taxes and they are not in the majority in the penal institutions," Mrs. McWhirter declared. "They have no voice in the school buildings, who shall be on the school board or what the school curriculum shall be. Last year seventy-five per cent. of the high school graduates were girls. We know the schools are interested in girls. We also know women are going to have a place on school boards and something to say about school curriculum.

Mrs. McWhirter spoke briefly of value of parent-teachers club and then put the question: "Why is the feminist movement?" She answered it like this:

"Simply because girls and women have been allowed education, and when educated, men know they are not going to stay in the same bounds."

She recalled that some people think women are too busy to vote and then illustrated by an incident how little time it takes to vote. She stated that the men and women in the homes of the United States have to solve the domestic problem. She commented on the state of affairs that causes the domestic to lose her identity and that compels the young men to call for her to go back to the kitchen door when he may be dressed to take her to church. She illustrated this condition by calling attention to the fact that in the list of the dead on the Lusitania was Mrs. — and maid.

"That maid may have been an educated woman," she added, "possibly a high school graduate or a college graduate for some educated women travel as maid for the value of travel. She may have had the same impulses as you and I; the same high ideals, but she lost her identity and went unknown to her grave."

Mrs. McWhirter made a forceful plea for peace. "While we have been thinking of peace," she said, "we have come to realize that the liquor traffic is doomed. Men are elected to the next congress will have to be taken with the prohibition and suffrage forces. The next president of the United States will have to stand on an equal suffrage plank and possibly on a prohibition plank."

"The men of the United States are the best in the world and they are going to respond to the efforts of two million federated club women. The mother follows her son or daughter wherever he or she may go. She can not help it because God made her heart that way. All that we ask is that you give us the opportunity to express our opinion."

The program before the address brought forth prolonged applause. It opened with a song by the high school chorus. There was a piano duo by Mrs. Verl Behout and Miss Jennie Madden. Mrs. Owen Hill of Carthage pronounced the invocation. Miss Helen Scott and Mrs. Carl F.

DON'T WASH YOUR HAIR WITH SOAP

When you wash your hair, don't use soap. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain multifid coconut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

Behr sang a duet, with Miss Martha Hogsett as the accompanist. B. F. Miller sang, Miss Jessie Kitchen acting as accompanist. Miss Frances Frazee gave a reading and had to respond with another because the applause was so insistent. The last number on the program was a solo by Miss Norma Smith, Miss May Smith accompanying her.

Miss Vida Newsom, of Columbus, president of the Indiana Federation of Women's Clubs, delivered her annual address before the club women at the opening session yesterday afternoon. Previous to her address there was a short history of Rush county read by Mrs. E. B. Thomas, which brought out the fact that Rush county derived its name from Benjamin Rush, a great man in the medical world of his day. Mrs. Thomas' paper was very interesting and held the attention of more than two hundred women who were present.

Miss Newsom asserted that the Indiana federation was worthy of recognition because of its ideals, regardless of the work it has and is accomplishing. Miss Newsom, at the outset, used superlatives in complimenting Rushville on the new school building and congratulated the club women that they should be among the first to meet in the splendid structure.

Miss Newsom congratulated the club women of the sixth district on the fine attendance for the opening session. She also extended congratulations to the club women for the capable district chairman they have, Mrs. T. B. Denton Henley, of Carthage, who became chairman when Mrs. J. M. Hamilton, of Brookville, who was elected chairman, died. The state president said the sixth district chairman was considered one of the best of the thirteen in Indiana and declared her to be a worthy predecessor to Mrs. Hamilton.

"We hope to have every county in Indiana on the federated map by the next state convention," said the state president. "We added sixty-five clubs with an approximate membership of 3,500 last year and have added twenty-six already this year. We hope to make it seventy-five or eighty by the time for the state convention."

Miss Newsom extended an invitation to the non-federated clubs to join the federation, but if they did not wish to do that, she asked that they co-operate with the federation. She said many clubs asked what they could get out of the state federation. She declared as a matter of fact they could get much, but what they should ask is what they can do to help the work of the state federation. She called attention to the fact that the very name federation signifies co-operation.

Miss Newsom said that the clubs which join the federation will be less self-centered and more altruistic. She called attention to the fact that it was the lack of knowledge of the work of the federated clubs that caused the national president to advocate a state and national publicity campaign. She asserted that the federated clubs needed to be revitalized. Miss Newsom declared that the clubs which were not interested in the federation work were those which were not in touch with it, else they would be interested. Miss Newsom told briefly something of the legislative campaign of the federation during the last legislature.

Mrs. Henly presided at the meeting and Mrs. O. L. Stivers of Liberty, district secretary-treasurer, acted as secretary. The session opened with the club collect and was followed by a piano duo by Miss Martha Hogsett and Miss Norma Smith. A condensed report of the committees of the district organization was read and committees were appointed for the present convention.

The federated clubs in the county which are acting as hostesses are as follows: Woman's Literary Circle of Carthage; the Monday Study Circle and the Literary Research Club of Milroy; the Ladies Musicales, Monday Circle and the Shakespeare Club of Rushville.

FIGHT FANS ARE BUSY TALKING

Conversation Always End up as To
Who is to be Next Man to Face
Jess Willard

THIS IS OF GREAT INTEREST

McGraw is Having Trouble With His
Outfield And Snodgrass is Sorely Missed

BY HAL SHERIDAN
(Written for United Press.)

New York, May 21.—The advance signs of coming summer seem not to deter the fight bugs. Straw hats are as common as flies in August along Broadway now but the indoor winter sport is claiming more than its share of attention. Everywhere there is an undercurrent of talk about the big fighters, and finally the discussion always leads around to the question; When and who will Jess Willard mix it with? That seems to be of more importance to the Broadway fight sport than anything on the calendar just now.

And Billy Gibson's request for $10,000 for Jim Coffey's end in a match with Charley Weinert has stirred the unsettled waters anew. Jack Bulger, Weinert's manager, replied he was willing to split that figure. But Gibson can hold out, for Coffey is worth all he can get and would prove a mighty good drawing card in such a match. Of course the talk of his meeting Willard right soon is a little premature, but Coffey ought to be able to hold his own with Weinert.

But the big idea in Gibson's mind is that Coffey is in training for a match with Willard—sometime. The date is not of much importance for the big champion is not anxious to display his wares in the roped ring just yet; but when he is prepared to come out into the ring again Jim Coffey expects to be sitting inside the ropes waiting for Jess.

So Gibson wants Coffey to meet all comers until the big time arrives, when his fighter will be in condition to stand up to the champ. Billy Gibson is a crafty manager but it will take some clever work to force the big Kansas cowboy champ into the ring before he wants to.

However, unless Gibson and Bulger comes to terms there is not much chance of Coffey meeting Weinert. The Broadway Sporting Club wanted the match as Coffey is a favorite of the New York fight "bugs" just now.

A regular vanload of trouble has been wished on McGraw and he cannot seem to dump it. Fred Snodgrass is sorely missed by the New York team, for outfielders who can both field and hit are at a premium just now. Fred's sore hand must be practically well, and he should be back in the game soon. But picking out of the Giant's troubles is small work these days. They are so plentiful they might jump right up in your face. In fact, the old time stars are neck deep in a sea of misfortune.

The recent winning of the Modified Marathon in New York by Hannes Kolehmanien seems not to discourage local runners. Almost nightly a score of white pants and bare legs can be seen running around New York's well known parks. What these promising athletes are training for is unknown. Perhaps they are preparing for next year's marathon.

NEW PITCHER IS ANNOUNCED

Davidson Lines up Hewitt For
Mound Duty And Also Signs
Deitrich For Shortstop.

BLUE LICKS STRONG TEAM

Efforts to Get Winner For Rushville
Being Made in Getting New Players—All Set Now

After shaking the bushes all week in an effort to secure additional strength for the Rushers, Manager Davidson announces that he has secured a new pitcher and a new short stop. The pitcher's name is Hewitt and the shortstop is Deitrich. Davidson states that these two men were the very best he could secure and with Brieiteistien added to the outfield the Rushville team should be all set for the rest of the season.

The time for experimenting has passed and the new players are surely an improvement for Davidson knows that the team will have to play ball. The new lineup will get a severe test in the game Sunday with the Blue Licks. This famous club headed by Harry Bacon will surely give the Rushers a lively tussell.

In the lineup of the Blue Licks will be found Kuhlman, who formerly played with Counersville as did Bacon, the pitcher. Their line up is as follows: Kuhlman, center field; Nordman, third base; Grote, catch; Herzel, short stop; Barbrink, second Steiner, first base; Norris, right field; Korte, left field; and Bacon or Retsch, pitch.

This is the same team that won last Sunday from the All-Pros. A team that beats the All-Pros must be pretty good and the fans are certain to see a good game here Sunday.

The club directors and Manager Davidson are determined to have a winner and despite the poor start the fans are asked to withhold judgment. It is predicted that before the season is very far advanced they will be clamoring to get in the ball park.

With Hewitt pitching and Deitrich on short the team should present a greatly changed front. Davidson states that good pitchers around Cincinnati are very scarce and it was only after the hardest kind of work that Hewitt was secured. He is a pitcher with a league experience and is said to be as good as Al Leake. In this case the fans need not worry over a winner. The game will be called at 2:30 o'clock.

INDIANAPOLIS IS CHOICE FOR MEET

High School Athletic Officials Likely
To Hold All State Meets
There in Future

ONE LAST WEEK BIG SUCCESS

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., May 21.—That the annual state high school track meet will be held at Indianapolis in the future was the opinion of the officers of the Indiana High School Athletic Association today. The success of last Saturday's meet showed the advantages of holding the meet here.

In the past the meet has been handed around among the colleges and universities of the state. Indianapolis is better able to take care of the increasing crowds of athletes and rooters and the city is more centrally located than any of the college cities of the state.

The BLACK BOX

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

Author of "The Moving Finger," "The Prince of Sinners," "Anna, the Adventuress," etc.

(Copyright, 1915, by Otis F. Wood.)

He opened what seemed to be a little mahogany box, looked at the ball of black substance inside, closed it up, placed it against the far wall, untwisted the coil, stood back near the door and then pressed the button. The result was extraordinary. The whole of the far wall was blown out and for some distance in front the ground was furrowed up by the explosion. Quest replaced the instrument in his pocket, sprang through the opening and ran for the tower house. Behind him on its way to New York he could see a freight train coming along. He could hear, too, Red Gallagher's roar of anger. It was less than fifty yards, yet as soon as he reached the shelter of the tower the thunder of the freight sounded in Quest's ears. He glanced around. Red Gallagher and his mate were racing almost side by side towards him. He rushed up the narrow stairs into the signal room, tearing open his coat to show his official badge. "Stop the freight," he shouted to the operator. "Quick. I'm Sanford Quest, detective—special powers from the chief commissioner."

The man moved to the signal. Another voice thundered in his ears. He turned swiftly around. The Irishman's red head had appeared at the top of the staircase.

"Drop that signal or I'll blow you into bits," he shouted. The operator hesitated, dazed. "Walk towards me," Gallagher shouted. "Look here, you guy, this will show you whether I'm in earnest or not!"

A bullet passed within a few inches of the operator's head. He came slowly across the room. Below they could hear the roar of the freight.

"This ain't your job," the Irishman continued savagely. "We want the cop, and we're going to have him." Quest had stolen a yard or two nearer during this brief colloquy. Gallagher's mate from behind shouted out a warning just a second too late. With a sudden kick, Quest sent the revolver flying across the room and before the Irishman could recover he struck him full in the face. Notwithstanding his huge size and strength, Gallagher reeled. The operator who had just begun to realize what was happening flung himself bodily against the two thugs. A shot from the tangled mass of struggling limbs whistled past Quest's head as he sprang to the window which overlooked the track. The freight had already almost passed. Quest steadied himself for a supreme effort, crawled out on the little steel bridge and poised himself for a moment. The last car was just beneath. The gap between it and the previous one was slipping by. He set his teeth and jumped on the smooth top.

Back behind the tower Red Gallagher and his mate bent with horrified faces over the body of the signalman. "What the hell did you want to plug him for?" the latter muttered. "He ain't in the show at all. You've done us, Red, he's cooked!" Red Gallagher staggered to his feet. Already the horror of the murderer was in his face as he glanced furtively around. "I never meant to drop him," he muttered. "I got mad at seeing Quest get off. That man's a devil."

"What are we going to do?" the other demanded hoarsely. "There's the auto," Gallagher shouted. "Come on, old man! I can fix the wheel. If we've got to swing for this job, we'll have something of our own back first."

They crawled to the side of the road. Gallagher's rough, hairy fingers were still trembling, but they knew their job. In a few minutes the wheel was fixed. Clumsily but successfully, the great Irishman turned the car around away from the city.

"She's a hummer," he muttered. "I'll make her go when we get the hang of it. Sit tight."

They drove clumsily off, gathering

she was becoming a little tactless. "Of course," she sighed, "it is disappointing not to be able to lay your hands upon the thief. That is where I suppose you must find the interference of an amateur like Mr. Quest. A little troublesome sometimes. He gets back the property, which is what the private individual wants, but he doesn't secure the thief, which is, of course, the real end of the case from your point of view."

The car drew up outside Quest's house. The inspector assisted his companion to alight and rang the bell at the front door. There was a somewhat prolonged pause. He rang again. "Never knew this to happen before," he remarked. "That sort of secretary-valet of Mr. Quest's—Ross Brown I think he calls him—is always on the spot."

They waited for some time, there was still no answer to their summons. The inspector placed his ear to the keyhole. There was not a sound to be heard. He drew back, a little puzzled. At that moment his attention was caught by the fluttering of a little piece of white material caught in the door. He pulled it out. It was a fragment of white embroidery, and on it were several small stains. The inspector looked at them and looked at his fingers. His face grew suddenly grave.

"Seems to me," he muttered, "that there has been some trouble here. I shall have to take a liberty. If you'll excuse me, Mrs. Rheinholdt, I think it would be better if you waited in the car until I send out for you."

"You don't think the jewels have been stolen again?" she gasped.

The inspector made no reply. He had drawn from his pocket a little pass key and was fitting it into the lock. The door swung open. Once more they were both conscious of that peculiar silence, which seemed to have in it some unnamable quality. He moved to the foot of the stairs and shouted:

"Hello! Anyone there?"

There was no reply. He opened the doors of the two rooms on the right-hand side, where Quest, when he was engaged in any widespread affair, kept a stenographer and a telegraph operator. Both rooms were empty. Then he turned towards Quest's study on the left-hand side. French was a man of iron nerve. No power on earth could have kept back the cry which broke from his lips.

A few feet away from the door was stretched the body of the secretary-valet. On the other side of the room, lying as though she had slipped from the sofa, her head fallen on one side in hideous fashion, was the body of Miss Quigg, the Salvation Army young woman. French set his teeth and drew back the curtains. In the clear, bright light the disorder of the room was fully revealed. There had been a terrible struggle. Between whom? How?

There was suddenly a piercing shriek. The inspector turned quickly around. Mrs. Rheinholdt, who had disregarded his advice, was standing on the threshold.

"Inspector!" she cried. "What has happened? Oh, my God!"

speed at every yard. Behind, in the shadow of the tower, the signalman lay dead. Quest, half way to New York, stretched flat on his stomach, was struggling for life with knees and hands and feet.

CHAPTER XI.

Mrs. Rheinholdt welcomed the inspector with a beaming smile as he stepped out of his office and approached her automobile.

"How nice of you to be so punctual, Mr. French," she exclaimed, making room for him by her side. "Will you tell the man to drive to Mr. Quest's house in Georgia square?"

The inspector obeyed and took his place in the luxurious limousine.

"How beautifully punctual we are!" she continued, glancing at the clock. "Inspector, I am so excited at the idea of getting my jewels back. Isn't Mr. Quest a wonderful man?"

"He's a clever chap, all right," the inspector admitted. "All the same, I'm rather sorry he wasn't able to lay hands on the thief."

"That's your point of view, of course," Mrs. Rheinholdt remarked. "I can think of nothing but having my diamonds back. I feel I ought to go and thank the professor for recommending Mr. Quest."

The inspector made no reply. Mrs. Rheinholdt was suddenly aware that

She covered her face with her hands. French gripped her by the arm. At that moment there was the sound of an automobile stopping outside.

"Keep quiet for a moment," the inspector whispered in her ear. "Pull yourself together, madam. Go to the other end of the room. Don't look. Stay there for a few moments and then get home as quick as you can."

She obeyed him mutely, pressing her hands to her eyes, shivering in every limb. French, stood back inside the room. He heard the front door open, he heard Quest's voice outside. "Where the devil are you, Ross?"

There was no reply.

The door was pushed open. Quest entered, followed by the professor and Craig. The inspector stood watching their faces. Quest came to a standstill before he had passed the threshold. He looked upon the floor and he looked across to the sofa. Then he looked at French.

"My God!" he muttered.

The professor pushed past. He had looked around the room, and gazed at the two bodies with an expression of blank and absolute terror. Then he fell back into Craig's arms. "The poor girl!" he cried. "Horrible! Horrible! Horrible!"

"Know anything about this?" Quest asked quickly.

"Not a thing," the inspector replied.

"We arrived, Mrs. Rheinholdt and I, at five minutes past twelve. There was no answer to our ring. I used my pass key and entered. This is what I found."

Quest stood over the body of his valet for a moment. The man was obviously dead. The inspector took his handkerchief and covered up the head. A few feet away was a heavy paper-weight.

"Killed by a blow from behind," French remarked grimly, "with that little affair. Look here!"

They glanced down at the girl. Quest's eyebrows came together quickly. There were two blue marks upon her throat where a man's thumbs might have been.

"The hands again," he muttered. The inspector nodded.

"Can you make anything of it?"

"Not yet," Quest confessed. "I must think."

The inspector glanced at him curiously.

"Where on earth have you been to?" he demanded.

"Been to?" Quest repeated.

"Look in the mirror!" French suggested.

Quest glanced at himself. His collar had given way, his tie was torn, a button and some of the cloth had been wrenched from his coat, his trousers were torn and he was covered with dust.

"I'll tell you about my trouble a little later on," he replied. "Say, can't we keep those girls out?"

They were too late. Laura and Lenora were already upon the threshold. Quest swung round toward them.

"Girls," he said, "there has been some trouble here. Go and wait upstairs, Lenora, or sit in the hall."

He Set His Teeth and Jumped.

Laura, you had better telephone to the police station and for a doctor. That's right, isn't it, inspector?"

"Yes!" the latter assented thoughtfully.

Lenora, white to the lips, staggered a few feet back into the hall. Laura set her teeth and lingered.

"Is that Ross?" she asked.

"It's his body," Quest replied. "He's been murdered here, he and the Salvation Army girl who was to come this morning for her check."

Laura turned away half dazed.

"I'd have trusted Ross with my life," Quest continued, "but he must have been alone in the house when the girl came. Do you suppose it was the usual sort of trouble?"

Inspector French stooped down and picked up the paper-weight. Across it was stamped the name of Sanford Quest.

"This yours, Quest?"

"Of course it is," Quest answered.

"Everything in the room is mine."

"The girl would fight to defend herself," the inspector remarked slowly, "but she could never strike a man such a blow as your valet died from."

French stooped and picked up a small clock. It had stopped at eleven-fifteen. He looked at it thoughtfully.

"Quest," he went on, "I'll have to ask you a question."

"Why not?" Quest replied looking quickly up.

"Where were you at eleven-fifteen?"

"On tower No. 10 of the New York Central, scrapping for my life," Quest answered grimly. "I've reason to remember it."

Something in the inspector's steady gaze seemed to inspire the criminologist with a new idea. He came a step forward, a little frown upon his forehead.

"Say, French," he exclaimed, "you don't—you don't suspect me of this?" French was unmoved. He looked Quest in the eyes.

"I don't know," he said.

WANT ADS BRING RESULTS

gates return home, they can not impart their enthusiasm aroused at the meeting to the clubs. No decision was reached, but it said the question of changing the date will be brought up at the next state meeting.

Mrs. Jessica McFarlan, of Connersville, former district chairman and ex-state officer, and one of the distinguished visitors at the convention, argued in favor of changing the date to fall.

"Really, now, the men wouldn't run it that way," she said in closing her argument, just as if she had clinched it.

"But maybe the men don't know so well," replied Mrs. Meredith.

Mrs. Frank Craft, of Brookville, spoke briefly on "State Endowment." She is the sixth district member of the state committee. She explained that the state organization decided it needed an endowment and that circulars had been sent to all federated clubs and county chairmen. The endowment could be raised, she said, by each federated club member paying 25 cents a year for two years. She said it was not a question to be decided now because it had been endorsed by the state convention.

Mrs. Craft also proposed that the district contribute $100 to place the name of Mrs. J. M. Hamilton, the deceased district chairman, on the founders' list which includes every person giving $100. She said if every federated club woman gave five cents, the sum could be raised. She said there had been some unfavorable replies to the proposition, and it was not desired that the $100 be an assessment, but a gift. The question was to be decided this afternoon.

Mrs. George E. Mullin of Brookville read a tribute to Mrs. Hamilton, praising her kindly disposition and her love for the federated club work. Many intimate friends of Mrs. Hamilton were visibly affected by the tribute. She was twice district chairman.

An amendment to the district constitution raising the annual dues from fifty cents to a dollar was read, but a vote on it was postponed until this afternoon. It was explained more money was needed for ordinary expenses.

Mrs. Meredith prepared a printed list of seven questions, all of which were answered by speakers previously designated, and the discussion followed. One of the principal things brought out in the discussions was that women's clubs should do all they could in community development.

The idea was expressed that clubs should undertake charitable and philanthropic work and not leave it all to the churches. It was also stated, in reply to a question, that the women's club movement isn't passing, but is changing.

During the discussion of the question: "What has your club done for the place in which you live?" Mrs. C. H. Gilbert told something of the accomplishments of the Ladies Musicales. She recited the efforts of the club in giving a well known young woman a musical education and purchasing for her a violin. Mrs. R. J. Wilson and Mrs. A. L. Aldridge were asked to stand and introduced to the audience as among the leading spirits in the Musicales who had done much in its organization.

Mrs. Meredith said the work of the Musicales was a fine aim for any club. Mrs. Harrell, of Brookville, also complimented the Musicales, saying that she knew of the work it had done.

A point developed that was applauded was the statement of a Shelbyville delegate who said that geratist thing any town had done for its women's clubs was to recognize them as co-workers. The value of the aid of women in chautauqua work also was discussed. The sentiment seemed to be in favor of small clubs, with a federation, rather than a department club.

Mrs. A. W. Jamieson said department clubs had been successful in Colorado. Mrs. W. D. Foulke of Richmond spoke briefly and Prof. Mart Matthews of Purdue university outlined the work of the home economic department, also explaining the Smith-Lever bill, which was the first federal law ever passed which recognized home making along with agriculture.

BUDGET SYSTEM MAY BE INCLUDED

This And Single Tax May be Considered in Planning New System Of Taxation For Indiana

RESULTS TO BE FAR-REACHING

Expert Has Not Yet Been Named But May be Announced on May 24—

Causes Speculation

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., May 21.—Many believed it probable today that the commission on taxation appointed by Governor Ralston to plan a system of taxation for Indiana will treat the subject in broadest sense, possibly including a budget system for expenditure, and a study of various systems, such as the single tax. The commission may investigate the taxation of insurance companies.

If the commission decides upon such a sweeping investigation, its report would not necessarily call for legislation at once on these matters, it was said, but would lay down certain principles for the state to ponder on. The work of this commission is causing a great deal of speculation, for it is realized that the results may be far-reaching.

The commission was created, to quote the act, to "investigate the problem of taxation in Indiana and consider what changes in the constitution and laws relating to taxation are needed to make a just and equitable system of taxation, and to make such investigation as may be practicable through printed reports and testimony of experts as to taxation reform in other states."

The study of the budget system, it was admitted, is not directly provided for in the act, but it was argued that any system of taxation however well balanced would be inadequate without a proper system for expenditure of people's money.

The fact that the legislative visiting committee mentioned the budget system as a possible relief for the present unorganized method of expending the state's money was mentioned by some as an indication that the 1915 legislature itself would look with favor on such an investigation. One of the leading members of the visiting committee was Charles H. Bedwell of Sullivan, speaker of the house.

Selling Is MORE than Trading Stock for Money!

Selling is part of the scheme of business. Most anyone can sell once, but selling so you can create permanent customers is selling successfully. That is why we carry the large stock of buggies we have on our sample floor for prospective customers or purchasers to make their selections from. They don't have to take something they don't want, as we carry every style of buggy that there is a demand for. Then after the customer has made his selection from our stock we tell him exactly what the buggy is and it has to be just as we represent it or we make it that way. The customer takes no chances. He is sure to get just what he pays for. ONE sale reduces itself to a confidence game unless the buyer is perfectly satisfied. Satisfaction sends a customer away with a smile that won't come off. That is why our buggy business has grown. We have found out how to hold customers after we get them and every satisfied customer is bound to bring a new customer sooner or later. Right now our stock of buggies is complete and if you are needing a buggy come in and make your selection. We have the style you want and we would be glad to have you for one of our satisfied customers. We know you will be glad when you give us your vehicle business, so do it now.

ACT QUICKLY Delly Has Been Dangerous in Rushville.

Do the right thing at the right time.
Act quickly in time of danger.
In time of kidney danger Doan's Kidney Pills are most effective.
G. Priest, 223 West Third street, Rushville, says: "For several years I had kidney trouble, which came on by spells. The complaint started with a dull pain just over my kidneys, then I became weak and dizzy. Doan's Kidney Pills were finally brought to my attention and were so highly recommended that I got a supply at Johnson & Co.'s Drug Store. They proved to be the best kidney medicine I had ever tried and in a short time, my kidneys were normal."
(Statement given June 13, 1907.)
Over five years later, Mr. Priest said: "I still use Doan's Kidney Pills when in need of a kidney tonic and the results are always satisfactory."
Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Priest had. Foster-Milburn Co., Propsh., Buffalo, N. Y.

COMMUNITY EGG CIRCLES URGED

Department of Agriculture Shows How to Get Better Results By Co-operative Work
PARCEL POST SYSTEM USED
Farmers Urged to Market Product Frequently—New Use For Windfall Apples.
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)
Washington, May 21.—Methods of organizing community egg circles are being suggested by the Department of Agriculture in special bulletins on the subject. Through the formation of such co-operative societies it is pointed out, the following results are more easily obtained than is possible through individual effort:
The selection of pure breeds that lay more and larger eggs, provision for better care, food, and shelter and dry, vermin-proof nests; confining males except in breeding season; collecting eggs frequently, especially in hot or muggy weather; storing eggs in dry, clean, cool places; using small and dirty eggs at home; marketing frequently, with protection at all times from the heat; selling for cash on a basis of size and quality, "loss off" instead of "ease count," using attractive packages and combining of shipments for economy's sake.
Marketing by parcel post is also a part of the egg circle system suggested, as is the method of marketing through a neighborhood creamery. While at first, it is pointed out, the number of eggs marketed may not warrant a central station, with a manager to inspect, grade and market the whole product, such development should be aimed at.
While Congress is devoting a good deal of thought to rural credits and some enactment is anticipated at the next session, the Agriculture Department in a recent bulletin proposes ways in which farmers can improve their personal credit. One is through temporary agreements with existing loan agencies and the other is through organization of cooperative credit associations. The latter method already is in successful use in a number of communities it is stated. The principal underlying the co-operative credit system is where many an honest individual farmer lacks the necessary security to obtain funds needed for equipment, a group of farmers similarly situated can obtain the desired credit by placing the collective good will behind each of the members.
The department's bulletin gives an outline of organization, with suggestions as to limitation of membership, voting powers, how to secure funds, how to make loans, how to manage the association, how to audit accounts, the supervision of loans and other details.

Windfall apples may be scanned whole and used as a breakfast dish, for dessert, salads, or baked. There will be many much to much marred for canning whole. In this case the marred pieces may be removed and the apples sliced and canned for either pie filling or for apple sauce.
For canning windfall apples whole, the department advises the selection of firm but not overripe apples. A great difference in the canned products will be noted in the different varieties of apples.

WAR ODDITIES.
London, May 11. (By Mail to New York)—Since Turkey's entrance into the war, Turkish cigarettes are taboo in England.
King George who rarely smokes cigars used to smoke Turkish cigarettes with a relish. Now, it is learned he has taken to Egyptian blends.
The Prince of Wales, whose short gold tipped Turkish cigarettes were well known to fellow army officers at the beginning of the war, now finds consolation in a favorite brier pipe, in which he smokes a blend of Egyptian and Virginia tobacco. He does not prefer the Turkish. He still smokes cigarettes occasionally, however. They are especially made and are a scant two inches long. This is because the Prince so often finds himself in situations in which smoking is not correct that half the cigarettes he smokes are barely lighted and thrown away.
London tobacco dealers are authority for the statement that Turkish tobacco has practically disappeared from the British market since Turkey declared hostilities, and in many shops they are not now offered for sale.
The British smoking public is following the king and Prince. There is no sympathy for Turkish tobacco.

Experiments at the Maryland Agricultural College with a new fly trap have proved highly interesting. The trap is intended not to catch and destroy the flies, but the maggots out of which flies develop. In August and September last year it is reported that the trap used destroyed at least 98 per cent of the larvae breeding in the manure where the experiment was conducted.
The Department of Agriculture, in a bulletin just issued, urges the farmer who specializes in marketing eggs to market his product frequently. The Department has made investigation on 90 Kansas farms to discover how the distance from market influences the frequency of market eggs. Twenty-six of the farmers sent their eggs to market twice a week, 1 sent them once a week, and 3 only once in two weeks.
Windfall apples, which are so often left on the ground to rot, may be made to serve a useful purpose to the economical housewife, says a bulletin just issued by the Department of Agriculture. A little forethought and labor at this time of the year spent on a disposed product of the orchard may supply the winter table with many an appetizing and whole-
